■ Shoes Business ■ Plastic Business ■ Industrial Materials Business

- Shoes Business: While running shoes such as BROOKS and comfort shoes ACHILLES SORBO performed well, other product lines struggled.
- Plastic Business: Automotive Materials were impacted by production cutbacks at Japanese automakers in the Japanese, Chinese, and North American markets, while Film products for electronics and life sciences saw strong growth, resulting in increased sales.
- Industrial Materials Business: Polyurethane products for bedding and household items showed signs of recovery, and Industrial Materials products also saw growth, driven by a rebound in semiconductor transport components and increases in medical devices, contributing to higher sales.

■ Shoes Business ■ Plastic Business ■ Industrial Materials Business

- The Shoes Business saw a widening of losses due to factors such as higher procurement costs driven by the weaker yen, despite efforts to reduce selling expenses and other costs.
- The Plastic Business experienced a decline in profit due to lower gross profit resulting from decreased revenue in overseas markets.
- The Industrial Materials Business posted a significant increase in profit, benefiting from improved margins driven by price revisions and improved productivity, as well as a decline in depreciation on Polyurethane and Heat Insulation Materials products that had been subject to impairment losses in the previous fiscal year.

2. Financial Results Forecast for the fiscal year ending March 31, 2026

- The business environment is expected to remain uncertain amid a further increase in geopolitical risks.
- Under the new Mid-term Management Plan "Mid-term Management Plan (FY2025-FY2027)", the Company will prioritize transforming its business portfolio by advancing the three company-wide strategies—thorough selection and concentration, creation of new values, and promotion of a global strategy—and by enhancing its business foundations (i.e., empowering its workforce and improving its productivity and technological capabilities). At the same time, the Company will promote sustainability-focused management and work toward rebuilding and strengthening profitability.
